I observed a black female sitting in the driver's seat of the vehicle, Ms. Jakayla Moore. Ms. Moore and Mr. Jordan are known to Police due to the fact that they often get in disorders that Police get dispatched to. As I drove past the vehicle I saw that Ms. Moore started moving the vehicle in reverse and Mr. Jordan was still trying to open the door and was yelling at her to open the door. I got out of my patrol car and made contact with them and asked what was going on. Mr. Jordan got very loud and disorderly so I detained Mr. Jordan for my safety and in order to gather the information from both parties. I spoke to Ms. Moore and she said that she wanted to leave the house and she did not want Mr. Jordan to go with her. She said that they had a verbal argument and she was trying to leave. She said that she did not want Mr. Jordan to get in trouble.

Ms. Moore has told Police in the past that she does not want Mr. Jordan at her house but neighbors have told Police that she lets him stay there frequently and the two argue a lot, to the point that the neighbors have called Police to make a report out of fear that someone was being injured in the house.

Ms. Moore stated that the landlord, Ms Deborah Lee, has told her that she does not want Mr. Jordan at the house. I tried calling Ms. Lee multiple times but was not able to get a hold of her.

After a short time Mr. Jordan calmed down and I took him out of handcuffs and told him he was free to go.
