I then requested for the victim to send the texts through email so I could see what was stated by her ex - she agreed and stated no problem. I then gave the victim my email address. Later that date I called the victim 2 times telling her that I have yet to receive the email - first time she stated that she sent them and the second call was the same as the first. The next day I contacted her again and she stated that she would try and send them through a different email. Still no email of the texts from the victim 2 days later. I then called her on this date - a 3rd time - to inquire on the email - no answer. Due to the lack of information that has been discovered or provided this case will be suspended until further information is learned that would change that status.
